Purpose and Scope

At Waterton Academy Trust, we believe that positive behaviour is fundamental to effective teaching, learning, wellbeing, and inclusion. We are committed to creating calm, safe, and orderly environments in which all pupils feel respected, supported, and able to achieve their best.

This policy is the Trust's statutory behaviour policy, personalised for Normanton Junior Academy, and applies across all schools within Waterton Academy Trust. It sets out the Trust's high expectations for pupil behaviour, the consequences that may be applied when these expectations are not met, and the authority of staff to take proportionate action to promote positive behaviour and maintain good order.

In line with the Department for Education's Behaviour in Schools, this policy is underpinned by clear rules, routines, and systems that are applied consistently and fairly. We recognise that behaviour is a form of communication and that pupils' behaviour can be influenced by a range of factors, including individual needs, experiences, and developmental stage. Staff are therefore expected to take a preventative and supportive approach, using understanding of pupils to promote positive behaviour and reduce the likelihood of disruption. Our Trust-wide approach is rooted in relational practice and reflects our core values of respect, inclusion, and belonging. We are committed to ensuring that every pupil feels seen, heard, and understood, and that relationships are central to promoting positive behaviour. The Trust's Excellence in Promoting Positive Behaviours – Professional Practice Guide articulates the shared values, ethos, and approaches that underpin this commitment across all Trust schools.

This policy applies to all pupils, including those with special educational needs and/or disabilities (SEND). The Trust is committed to meeting its duties under the Equality Act 2010 and the SEND Code of Practice, including making reasonable adjustments where appropriate, while maintaining high expectations for behaviour for all pupils.

The policy applies:

- at all times when pupils are on the school site
- when pupils are participating in school-organised activities, including educational visits and residential trips
- when pupils are travelling on school transport
- to online behaviour, including the use of digital platforms and remote learning, where conduct affects the school community

The consistent implementation of this policy is supported by the Trust's Excellence in Supporting Positive Behaviours guidance document, which provides further detail on effective, evidence-informed approaches to promoting positive behaviour across Trust schools.

This policy has been written with reference to all relevant statutory legislation and guidance, as listed at the end of this policy, and reflects the Trust's commitment to ensuring that behaviour is managed lawfully, proportionately, and in the best interests of pupils and staff.

Intrinsic Motivation and Positive Behaviour

At Waterton Academy Trust, our approach to promoting positive behaviour is grounded in the development of intrinsic motivation. Intrinsic motivation refers to pupils' internal drive to behave positively because they feel a sense of belonging, purpose, responsibility, and pride in themselves and their community, rather than in response to external rewards or sanctions.

We believe that lasting positive behaviour is most effectively fostered when pupils:

- feel safe, respected, and valued
- understand expectations and the reasons behind them
- experience strong, trusting relationships with adults
- develop self-regulation, empathy, and a sense of moral responsibility

As such, staff are expected to prioritise approaches that build pupils' internal motivation to behave well. This includes:

- explicitly teaching and modelling expected behaviours and social norms
- using language that supports reflection, choice, and accountability
- acknowledging effort, growth, and positive contribution in ways that reinforce pupils' self-worth and agency
- supporting pupils to repair relationships and learn from mistakes

While recognition and praise are important, the Trust seeks to minimise reliance on extrinsic motivators such as prizes, tokens, or rewards that may shift focus away from learning, relationships, and personal responsibility. Where recognition is used, it should be purposeful, proportionate, and aligned with reinforcing values, effort, and positive identity rather than compliance alone.

This intrinsic, relational approach supports pupils to develop:

- self-discipline rather than dependence on external control
- motivation rooted in belonging and connection
- skills for positive behaviour that endure beyond the school environment

By embedding intrinsic motivation within our behaviour practices, the Trust aims to promote positive behaviour that is authentic, inclusive, and sustainable, enabling all pupils to thrive both academically and socially.

For the purposes of this policy when 'Headteacher' is used this covers Headteacher, Head of School and Executive Headteacher roles.

Behaviour Expectations

Waterton Academy Trust sets high expectations for behaviour across all its schools, based on the principle that clear, consistently applied expectations support positive behaviour, wellbeing, and effective learning. All pupils are expected to conduct themselves in a way that reflects respect for others, responsibility for their actions, and consideration for the school environment.

Each school within the Trust has a responsibility to define and communicate its school-specific behaviour expectations, rules, or values in a way that is clear, age-appropriate, and accessible to pupils, staff, parents, and carers. These expectations should be positively framed, explicitly taught, and reinforced consistently across all areas of school life.

While the format and presentation of behaviour expectations may vary between schools (for example, through school rules, values, charters, or codes of conduct), they must:

- align with the Trust's Behaviour Policy and statutory guidance
- promote positive behaviour and respectful relationships
- support inclusion and meet the needs of all pupils, including those with SEND
- be applied consistently and fairly by all staff

Schools should set out their specific behaviour expectations below. This may include, but is not limited to:

- core school rules or values
- expected standards of behaviour in classrooms, social times, and around the school
- expectations for behaviour on school transport, educational visits, and online

Behaviour Expectations at Normanton Junior Academy

As a learning institution, the overarching responsibility of this policy is to ensure all pupils can learn in a safe, calm environment so that all pupils can thrive and achieve. A key aim of this policy is to promote the explicit teaching of successful learning and social behaviours, to ensure our community of learners are well-rounded citizens who have a positive impact upon society. This policy demonstrates the systems, values and culture surrounding how we support good behaviour in our community, as we model our beliefs through our words, actions and the experiences we offer pupils at Normanton Junior Academy.

Our Community Rights

In our inclusive learning community, all members are required to have respect for all people and property, to be kind and to be helpful.

Everyone attending or working in this school has a right to:

- recognition of their unique identity;
- be treated with respect and dignity;
- learn and work in a safe environment;
- be protected from harm, violence, assault and acts of verbal abuse.

Pupils attending this school and their parents have a right to:

- individual consideration of pupil needs by the staff who have responsibility for their care and protection;
- expect staff to undertake their duties and responsibilities in accordance with the school's policies;
- be informed about our school expectations 'the norms', school routines, relevant policies and the expected conduct of all pupils and staff working in school;
- be informed about the school's complaints procedure.

The school will ensure that pupils are given support to understand the need for and respond to clearly defined limits, which govern behaviour standards in our school.

School Values: Learning Powers and Learning Behaviours

Resilience - Continuous Improvement – Curiosity – Concentration - Co-operation – Creativity

At Normanton Junior Academy, all learning experiences are underpinned by six learning powers that constitute our values:

- We are resilient
- We continuously improve
- We are curious about the world
- We concentrate on our learning
- We co-operate with all members of our community
- We think creatively

As a result of these values being lived, our children enjoy learning, know how to behave and become model citizens of our community and leave our school, ready, for the next stage of life and education.

At Normanton Junior Academy, we have high expectations of the behaviour of our community. In support of our school motto, pupils are given opportunities to acquire learning powers and demonstrate their accompanying learning behaviours as outlined in Appendix 1.

Learning Powers support children to display a positive learning attitude, thus enjoying their lifelong learning.

Learning Behaviours stipulate the behaviours expected to be able to learn. These are the values that all members of the community are required to demonstrate in order to thrive.

Each lesson, as well as during other curriculum activities and parts of the school day, pupils are taught both academic content and consider the appropriate learning behaviours, in order to learn the behaviour qualities required to find success in a task.

It is our belief that once children have multiple experiences of all learning powers, and practiced their associated learning behaviours, all pupils will be empowered to enjoy any learning experiences offered throughout their lives.

These learning powers formulate a positive behaviour management system, underpinned by the principle that it is our duty to educate children on effective behaviour for lifelong learning. We afford all pupils the opportunity to build the skills required to be independent, successful citizens no matter the path they choose.

Our behaviour management system, summarised in this policy, is based on extensive educational research shared by the Department for Education, the Education Endowment Foundation as well as educational specialists and advisors.

School Norms: Expectations, Rules and Routines

At Normanton Junior Academy, the learning community are expected to cooperate and demonstrate good social behaviour by being kind, safe and polite. This is modelled and promoted consistently by staff.

Pupils of the Pupil Leadership Team, supported by the Senior Leadership Team, formulated the Pupil Code of Conduct detailing the Normanton Junior Academy's 'norms' as outlined in Appendix 2.

Such expectations include, but are not limited to:

- Walking around safely on the left-side of the corridor
- Quietly and respectfully moving around the school
- Wearing the correct uniform at all times
- Being kind to others, including when online

These behaviours are not explicitly rewarded by the school reward system as they are non-negotiables, expected and promoted by all members of the learning community, continuously, each day.

All expectations are linked to the Learning Powers which permeate Normanton Junior Academy. When pupils do not demonstrate our expectations, they are reminded of the Pupil Code of Conduct as part of the sanction system.

Unacceptable Behaviour

Unacceptable behaviour is defined as behaviour that breaches the school's stated expectations and disrupts learning, compromises safety, or undermines the wellbeing and dignity of others. All behaviour concerns will be addressed promptly, fairly, and in line with this policy.

The following list provides examples of behaviours that may be considered unacceptable. These behaviours may vary in frequency, severity, and impact, and some may be considered serious depending on the circumstances.

Examples of behaviours that breach expectations include, but are not limited to:

- disruption to learning, including persistent or repeated disruption
- unsafe physical or verbal behaviour that places the pupil or others at risk
- unkind, disrespectful, threatening, or aggressive physical or verbal behaviour towards others, including online behaviour
- physical aggression or violence, including fighting or deliberate harm
- verbal abuse, including shouting, swearing, intimidation, or threatening language
- damage to school or personal property, including deliberate vandalism
- bullying, including cyberbullying and repeated verbal or physical harassment
- dishonesty, including lying or cheating
- refusal to follow reasonable instructions, persistent non-compliance, or defiance
- inappropriate language, gestures, or conduct, including sexualised or offensive behaviour
- behaviour that may trigger safeguarding concerns, including sexualised behaviour, exploitation, or violence
- prejudicial or discriminatory language or behaviour, including racist, sexist, homophobic, transphobic, or ableist behaviour
- suspected criminal behaviour
- malicious allegations made against a member of staff- For the avoidance of doubt, all allegations against staff are treated as safeguarding matters and are managed in line with the Trust's Safeguarding and Child Protection Policy and statutory guidance. An allegation is only described as malicious where it has been investigated and found to be deliberately false.

Some behaviours may be deemed serious due to their nature, severity, or potential impact on the safety and wellbeing of pupils, staff, or the wider school community. Serious incidents may require immediate action and, where appropriate, involvement of senior leaders, external agencies, or consideration of suspension or permanent exclusion, in line with statutory guidance.

This list is not exhaustive. Behaviour is always considered in context, taking account of a pupil's age, stage of development, individual circumstances, and needs. The Trust's duties under the SEND Code of Practice and safeguarding guidance apply at all times.

Where appropriate, supportive and preventative measures, including reasonable adjustments, will be put in place alongside any consequences. The aim of all responses to unacceptable behaviour is to support pupils to understand the impact of their behaviour, learn from incidents, and make positive changes, while maintaining high expectations and a safe, orderly learning environment for all.

Rewards and Recognition

Waterton Academy Trust promotes positive behaviour through clear expectations, strong routines, and consistent, trusting relationships. Rewards and recognition are used to reinforce these expectations, encourage effort and engagement, and support pupils to develop self-regulation, responsibility, and positive learning behaviours.

Trust Principles for Rewards and Recognition

Across the Trust, approaches to rewards and recognition are guided by the following principles:

- High expectations for all – recognition reinforces clear behavioural standards and does not replace them
- Consistency and fairness – systems are applied predictably and equitably by all staff
- Inclusivity – approaches reflect pupils' age, stage of development, and individual needs, including SEND
- Proportionality – recognition is appropriate to the behaviour demonstrated and supports intrinsic motivation
- Purposefulness – rewards help pupils understand, repeat, and internalise positive behaviours

Intrinsic Motivation and Earned Autonomy

The primary purpose of rewards within the Trust is to develop intrinsic motivation and a positive sense of self-identity. Pupils are most likely to sustain positive behaviour when they feel trusted, respected, and valued as members of their school community.

A central feature of this approach is earned autonomy. As pupils consistently make positive choices, they build trust with adults and are given increased responsibility and independence, such as leadership roles or additional privileges. This strengthens pupils' sense of belonging and citizenship and encourages positive behaviour driven by values and personal responsibility rather than external incentives.

Use of Extrinsic Rewards

The Trust recognises that some pupils, particularly those who find self-regulation challenging, may require extrinsic, target-based rewards as a short-term support strategy. In these cases, rewards may provide a clear, visible goal to help scaffold pupils towards more intrinsically motivated behaviour.

Where extrinsic rewards are used, they must:

- be time-limited, purposeful, and proportionate
- be linked to clearly defined behavioural targets
- be reviewed regularly and reduced as pupils demonstrate increased self-regulation
- not replace relational approaches, consistent expectations, or restorative practice

Over time, Trust schools work towards reducing reliance on extrinsic rewards and strengthening approaches rooted in relationships, earned autonomy, and internal motivation.

Recognition and Correction

In line with the principles of Praise in Public, Reprimand in Private (PIP and RIP), recognition of positive behaviour should be visible, affirming, and values-led, while correction should be handled discreetly and respectfully. This approach maintains dignity, strengthens relationships, and avoids shame or comparison.

Implementation at School Level

Rewards and recognition form one part of a wider behaviour system and are not used in isolation. They sit alongside clear routines, consistent responses to unacceptable behaviour, restorative practice, and high-quality teaching that supports positive conduct and engagement.

Each school within the Trust is responsible for defining its own rewards and recognition systems in line with this policy and statutory guidance. These systems should prioritise intrinsic motivation, particularly through increased responsibility and autonomy (for example, roles within school), and be clearly communicated, consistently applied, and regularly reviewed for impact.

Schools should set out their rewards and recognition framework below, including:

- how positive behaviour and attitudes to learning are recognised
- how consistency and fairness are ensured
- opportunities for individual, class, and whole-school recognition

Rewards and Recognition at Normanton Junior Academy

It is our responsibility to support children to make the right choices and to understand that actions have consequences - both positive and negative. To support this understanding, we have a simple and effective reward system. This system is a resource to support the teaching of Learning Behaviours rather than the extent of our policy, as we model and demonstrate behaviour through our words, actions, ethos and the learning experiences we offer. The creation of a rewards system seeks to ensure consistency and fairness for all within our school community. The reward and sanction system is outlined in Appendix 1.

Overview of Rewards at NJA

There are many ways in which pupils are rewarded for demonstrating their Learning Powers and Learning Behaviours and when encouraged to do the right thing. These include:

- The Recognition Board - children's names are placed on the board for all to see, when they demonstrate the Learning Behaviour expected in a lesson. The class receive a House Point when all children are on the Recognition Board.
- House Points – children are assigned a House (Earth, Fire or Water) and earn House Points collectively when their behaviour as a class has demonstrated the Normanton Norms (including class attendance);
- Noticed at Normanton Junior Academy yellow wristband - children are given a wristband when their demonstration of the Learning Power is viewed as 'over and above' the Learning Behaviour expected;
- Noticed at Normanton Junior Academy Headteacher's Award gold wristband – children are given a wristband when their demonstration of the Learning Power is viewed as 'over and above' the yellow wristband and requires the recognition of the Executive Headteacher, Head of School or Phase Leaders;
- Noticed at Lunchtime Teal wristband- children are given a wristband when lunchtime staff notice children living our school values during lunchtime;
- Star of the Week - each teacher chooses two pupils who have excelled that week to receive a certificate in our weekly Celebration Assembly. These are then displayed in class for the following week;
- Bronze, Silver and Gold badges - to empower children to make the best behaviour choices in many aspects of life, each child is given a passport to earn a badge for demonstrating a list of criteria, across each term, as outlined in Appendix 4;
- Membership of various Pupil Leadership Teams - children who consistently demonstrate commitment to the school community are rewarded with privileges as House Captains, Sports Leaders, Lunchtime Legends etc;
- Weekly celebration assemblies noting wider achievements within and beyond the school community, including attendance and reading rewards.
- Termly Bronze, Silver and/or Gold Award Ceremonies takes place to recognise the children who have achieved their badge; parents are invited to these events.

Sanctions and Consequences

Waterton Academy Trust is clear that sanctions and consequences are used to maintain high standards of behaviour, support calm and orderly learning environments, and help pupils understand the impact of their actions. Sanctions are applied fairly, consistently, and proportionately, and are always linked to the school's stated behaviour expectations. The Trust's approach to sanctions is restorative in nature. Consequences are not intended to punish in isolation, but to support learning, accountability, and relationship repair. Where behaviour expectations are not met, pupils are supported to reflect on their actions, understand the impact on others, and take steps to repair harm and rebuild trust.

The Trust also recognises the important distinction between behaviour management and behaviour modification. Behaviour management strategies (such as reminders, prompts, redirection, and de-escalation) are used to support pupils in the moment and maintain safety and order. Behaviour modification, however, requires longer-term, intentional support to help pupils learn new skills, develop self-regulation, and change patterns of behaviour over time.

All staff are expected to understand this distinction and to recognise that for some pupils, persistent behavioural difficulties represent a learning need, not simply a compliance issue. As such, sanctions must always sit alongside teaching, support, intervention, and relational practice, ensuring pupils are helped to develop the skills they need to succeed, rather than simply being corrected for what they cannot yet do.

In line with Behaviour in Schools, all sanctions:

- do not involve humiliation, collective punishment, or practices that undermine dignity
- are proportionate to the behaviour and its impact
- take account of the individual circumstances of the pupil
- are applied consistently by staff
- are clearly explained to pupils
- are intended to support positive behaviour change

Graduated Range of Sanctions

Across the Trust, behaviour is addressed through a graduated response, appropriate to the age and stage of the child with increasing levels of sanction where behaviour persists, escalates, or is more serious in nature. This approach ensures that pupils are supported to make better choices while maintaining clear boundaries and expectations.

Our graduated response sets out thresholds (C1- C5) for the response to behaviour incidents according to the severity and/ or frequency of the behaviour incident. These behaviour thresholds are aligned across the Trust to support consistent recording, monitoring, and analysis of behaviour, including through Bromcom.

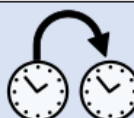

While individual schools may use different formats, terminology, or systems to communicate behaviour expectations to pupils and families, the underlying principles, thresholds, and behaviour levels are consistent across all Trust schools.

Overview of Sanctions at NJA

It is our responsibility to support children to make the right choices and to understand that actions have consequences - both positive and negative. To support this understanding, we have a sanction system. This sanction system is delivered with understanding of the child, and how behaviour is a form of communication and an expression of need. This system is a resource to support the teaching of Learning Behaviours rather than the extent of our policy, as we model and demonstrate behaviour through our words, actions, ethos and the learning experiences we offer. The creation of a sanction system seeks to ensure consistency and fairness for all within our school community, as we promote our Learning Powers.

The principles of restorative practice underpin our sanction system, as it is our duty to educate pupils to understand the wider consequences of negative behaviour choices- for themselves and for others. We seek to support pupils to understand their behaviour and how thoughts, emotions, urges and sensations can create a behaviour reaction, rather than a controlled response. School firmly acknowledges that children make mistakes, as do adults, therefore it is our responsibility to build and develop a harmonious school community which manages conflict and tensions by repairing harm and building relationships. Staff will communicate expectations clearly, calmly and consistently using a script of shared language when sanctions and restorative conversations are delivered (see Appendix 5). It is vital that formal sanctions are delivered privately from peers to prevent harm to relationships. We also use a 'Hot Cross Bun' as a consistent tool and method to scaffold these restorative conversations. Whenever a C4 or C5 is issued, a 'Hot Cross Bun' conversation will be had and recorded using the below template.

 <h2>Thoughts</h2>	 <h2>Emotions</h2>
 <h2>Behaviour</h2> -urges and actions-	 <h2>Sensations in my body</h2>
 <h2>How can I make this right?</h2>	 <h2>What should I do next time?</h2>

During this conversation, the child should bring to mind the moment which resulted in a C4 or C5 being issued and see if they can write down/share/draw their thoughts, emotions, physical sensations and behaviours were. To support these conversations, there are scaffolds for the pupils to reflect upon.

For children who consistently find it difficult to meet our high expectations, we will make reasonable adjustments, whilst the safety of all within our school community remains the highest priority. Every effort will be made to resolve conflicts positively and without harm to pupils or staff, property, buildings or the environment. Some or all of the following approaches should be taken according to the circumstances of the incident:

- Reminder of behaviour expectations according to learning activity taking place;
- Verbal acknowledgement of unacceptable behaviour with request for the pupil to refrain;
- Further verbal reprimand signposting that this is the second request for compliance;
- Choice given to child with reminder of consequences should behaviour not improve;
- Time out to give pupil time to reflect upon behaviour choices, regulate emotions and prevent harm to relationships;
- An imposition imposed if the right choices are not made decided upon by a case-by-case basis;
- An internal removal should the child need an extended amount of time away from peers;
- An explanation of why observed behaviour is unacceptable;
- A structured parent meeting when children have received x3 C4s or a C5.

If a child has received a sanction, a restorative conversation must take place between the child and staff member who has imposed the sanction once the child is regulated. We use the principles of calm, soothe and settle to aid a child in dysregulation. Members of staff are supported by the Pastoral Team, or the child's safe adults, when required.

Restorative conversations ensure positive relationships are reinforced and children have understood how their behaviour has had wider consequences besides the sanction. This restorative conversation gives all parties the opportunity to learn from the behaviour to prevent further sanctions being imposed.

Further, when there has been incidents when a child has been visibly dysregulated, members of staff will meet to reflect upon potential triggers, functions of the behaviour and how the behaviour could have been managed differently in future to prevent further harm or repeated incidents.

Parents will be informed of any sanctions on the day they have occurred, and in termly reports. Formal sanctions (a C3 and above) are recorded on Bromcom. This ensures behaviour patterns are monitored, and highlight to leaders where wider support may be needed. Incidents that have required investigation will be logged on CPOMS.

During autumn term 1, of Year 3, our 'new children' are provided with a 'grace period' of settling into their new school. If a C4 was issued during the first half term, this will not count against achieving the Gold award for Year 3 pupils.

Once a child has received 3 impositions (x3 C4s) or an internal removal (C5) over a term, a structured meeting will take place between the child, teacher and the child's parent or guardian as swift intervention. If a child receives 6 impositions, a phase leader and other appropriate adults will join the meeting. If a child were to receive 9 impositions, then the Head of School would lead the meeting. All meetings are an opportunity to target support by understanding wider factors, including personal circumstances, that may be impacting the child's participation in our learning community.

Proportionality and Escalation

Sanctions are proportionate and responsive, with escalation applied where:

- behaviour is repeated despite previous intervention
- behaviour increases in seriousness
- behaviour poses a risk to safety, learning, or wellbeing

Escalation is informed by professional judgement and does not replace early intervention, restorative approaches, or additional support where appropriate.

Internal Removal

In some circumstances, pupils may be removed from the classroom, playground or usual learning environment for a limited period. Internal removal is used to:

- maintain the safety and learning of others
- support de-escalation and reflection
- enable restorative work before reintegration

Internal removal is used in line with the school's statutory powers under the Education and Inspections Act 2006 and in accordance with the Department for Education's Behaviour in Schools. It is used proportionately, with appropriate supervision and safeguarding arrangements in place, and does not replace suspension where suspension is appropriate.

Internal removal is used only when necessary, for the shortest time possible, and pupils are provided with suitable work and restorative follow up and support to ensure successful reintegration.

Note: Internal removal versus removal from the classroom:

For the purposes of this policy, removal from the classroom refers to a short-term, lesson-based removal to maintain immediate safety or learning, while internal removal refers to a planned period away from peers as part of the school's graduated response to behaviour.

Recording, Monitoring, and Review

All sanctions and serious behaviour incidents are recorded accurately and promptly, in line with Trust expectations. The Trust's aligned behaviour levels support consistent use of Bromcom to:

- monitor patterns and frequency of behaviour
- identify pupils who may require additional support
- inform early intervention and planning
- support leaders in evaluating the effectiveness of behaviour systems

Behaviour data is reviewed regularly at school and Trust level to ensure:

- consistency and fairness
- compliance with statutory duties
- effective support for pupils
- continuous improvement in behaviour and attitudes

Where behaviour patterns indicate additional needs, schools will consider further support, reasonable adjustments, or referrals alongside any sanctions, in line with SEND and safeguarding duties.

Managing behaviour outside of school

The school may respond to behaviour that happens outside school where it is linked to the school community and affects pupils, staff, learning or the school's reputation. This includes behaviour on the way to and from school, on school trips, while wearing school uniform, in public places and online. Where behaviour causes harm, distress or disruption, the school will take fair and proportionate action and will follow safeguarding procedures where appropriate.

Restrictive Interventions, Including the Use of Reasonable Force

Waterton Academy Trust is committed to ensuring the safety and wellbeing of all pupils, staff, and visitors. Restrictive interventions, including the use of reasonable force, are used only when necessary, as a last resort, and in accordance with statutory legislation and guidance. Any use of restrictive intervention is intended to prevent harm, maintain safety, and uphold the dignity and welfare of all involved.

Legal Basis and Statutory Guidance

The use of reasonable force by school staff is permitted under schools' statutory powers and is informed by the following legislation and guidance:

- Education and Inspections Act 2006, which provides school staff with the power to use reasonable force to prevent a pupil from committing an offence, causing injury to themselves or others, causing damage to property, or prejudicing the maintenance of good order and discipline.

- Use of Reasonable Force (Department for Education, 2013), which sets out the circumstances in which reasonable force may be used and the principles that must be followed.
- Behaviour in Schools, which clarifies expectations around staff authority, proportionality, recording, and safeguarding in relation to behaviour management.
- Keeping Children Safe in Education, which requires schools to ensure that pupils are safeguarded at all times and that any use of force is consistent with safeguarding duties.

When Restrictive Interventions May Be Used

Restrictive interventions, including reasonable force, may be used only to prevent a pupil from:

- harming themselves or others
- committing a criminal offence
- causing serious damage to property
- seriously disrupting good order and discipline, where other strategies have been unsuccessful

Any use of reasonable force must be:

- reasonable and proportionate in the circumstances
- the minimum necessary to address the risk
- time-limited, ceasing as soon as the risk has passed

Reasonable force is not used as a punishment and must never be used to cause pain, humiliation, or degradation.

Where a pupil has identified additional needs, including SEND, or known triggers or risks, staff will consider reasonable adjustments, individual behaviour plans, and preventative strategies wherever possible, in line with the SEND Code of Practice and Equality Act duties.

Training and Staff Competence

Waterton Academy Trust recognises that the safe and lawful use of restrictive interventions requires appropriate training, confidence, and professional judgement. The Trust has accredited Team Teach trainers as part of its Trust team and is committed to building staff capability in this area.

All schools within the Trust are offered access to Team Teach training on an annual basis, ensuring that staff are trained in:

- de-escalation and preventative approaches
- positive behaviour support strategies
- safe and proportionate physical interventions, where required

School leaders are responsible for ensuring that staff who may need to use restrictive interventions have access to appropriate training and that practice is monitored and reviewed regularly.

Recording, Reporting, and Review

All incidents involving restrictive interventions or the use of reasonable force must follow the following steps:

- recorded promptly and accurately on CPOMS in line with school and Trust procedures
- Verbally reported to senior leaders for review on the same day
- Leaders must make contact with parents or carers as soon as reasonably practicable after the hold has happened but must be on the same day before the child leaves the premises, in line with statutory guidance.
- Staff must check for any signs of injury once the pupil is calm and safe, with at least two staff members present. If the child is not regulated before going home then the parent will be asked to check, if possible on collection. If it is not possible to check the child before leaving the premises then staff must record this on CPOMS and conduct a follow up phonecall as soon as possible

Records are used to:

- monitor patterns or frequency of incidents
- identify pupils who may require additional support or risk assessment
- inform staff training and preventative planning
- ensure compliance with safeguarding and statutory duties

Where the use of reasonable force gives rise to safeguarding concerns, appropriate safeguarding procedures are followed without delay.

Seclusion

Seclusion is distinct from isolation and is used in accordance with statutory guidance, including the Department for Education's Behaviour in Schools guidance, to manage immediate risk and ensure safety. It is a safeguarding measure and not a routine behaviour management strategy.

Seclusion refers to the supervised placement of a pupil in a separate space away from other pupils, where there may be a temporary deprivation of liberty, for example where a door has been closed and the pupil may be alone, in order to support safety and calm. Seclusion is only considered in exceptional circumstances, as a last resort, where a pupil's behaviour poses an immediate risk of harm to themselves or others and where other de-escalation strategies have been unsuccessful.

Any use of seclusion will be time limited, closely supervised, and proportionate to the level of risk presented. Senior leaders are informed immediately where practicable, and in all cases on the same day, of any use of seclusion. The Headteacher is notified in accordance with school procedures, and each incident is reviewed by a senior leader at the earliest opportunity.

If seclusion continues beyond what was initially anticipated, or if the pupil does not begin to de-escalate, the situation must be escalated to a senior leader without delay. A senior leader must actively review the ongoing risk, the pupil's wellbeing, and whether seclusion remains necessary and proportionate. Where seclusion cannot be safely ended within a reasonable period, alternative actions must be considered. These may include additional support, contacting parents or carers, seeking advice from external agencies, or, where appropriate, consideration of suspension in line with statutory guidance.

Pupils will never be locked in a room or left unattended. Supervision is continuous throughout any period of seclusion. Staff will ensure the pupil's dignity is upheld, their physical and emotional wellbeing is monitored, and appropriate access to support and basic needs is provided at all times. The purpose of seclusion is to support safety and calm, not to punish.

Parents or carers will be informed as soon as reasonably practicable following any incident where seclusion has been used, and normally on the same day. All incidents will be recorded and reviewed in line with the school's safeguarding and behaviour procedures, taking account of the pupil's age, special educational needs, vulnerabilities, and any individual support plans.

- Senior leader authorising seclusion (if different):

Search, Screening, and Confiscation

Waterton Academy Trust is committed to maintaining safe, calm, and orderly learning environments. Schools within the Trust exercise their powers to search, screen, and confiscate items where necessary to protect pupils, staff, and the wider school community. These powers are exercised lawfully, proportionately, and with due regard to safeguarding and pupil welfare.

Legal Powers and Statutory Guidance

School staff have the legal authority to search pupils and confiscate items under the following legislation and guidance:

- Education and Inspections Act 2006, which provides schools with statutory powers to discipline pupils and regulate behaviour, including powers to search and confiscate prohibited items.
- Searching, Screening and Confiscation (Department for Education, 2022), which sets out the circumstances in which searches may be conducted, with or without consent, and how confiscated items should be handled.
- Behaviour in Schools, which confirms staff authority to take reasonable action to maintain good order and discipline.
- Keeping Children Safe in Education, which underpins safeguarding responsibilities, including where items raise child protection or Prevent concerns.

Searches are carried out sensitively, with at least 2 staff members present, taking account of the age, sex, and needs of the pupil, including SEND, and in line with statutory guidance.

Parents and carers are informed of searches and confiscations where required or appropriate. Searches may be conducted with or without consent in line with statutory guidance.

Prohibited Items

Pupils are not permitted to bring the following items into school, or have them in their possession while on the school site, on school transport, or during school-organised activities:

- any item brought with the intention of causing harm
- knives, bladed articles, or weapons (including imitation weapons)
- fireworks, explosives, or incendiary devices
- illegal drugs, controlled substances, or drug paraphernalia
- Alcohol
- laser pens
- stolen items
- animals
- tobacco products, vapes, or e-cigarettes
- pornographic, sexualised, or age-inappropriate material
- literature, images, or digital content that promote extremist views, hatred, or violence
- abusive, inflammatory, or discriminatory texts or images

This list is not exhaustive. Any item that poses a risk to safety, wellbeing, or good order, or that breaches school rules, may be confiscated.

Mobile Phones and Electronic Devices

Each school within the Trust has a Mobile Phone Policy, which is shared with pupils and parents/carers and is available on the school's website. Pupils are expected to follow their school's Mobile Phone Policy at all times.

A breach of a school's Mobile Phone Policy constitutes a breach of this Behaviour Policy and may result in sanctions and/or confiscation in line with school procedures.

Handling, Retention, and Disposal of Confiscated Items

Confiscated items are handled in accordance with statutory guidance and school procedures. This may include:

- retaining items for a period of time
- returning items to pupils or parents/carers where appropriate
- passing items to the police or other relevant authorities
- disposing of items safely and lawfully

Illegal items, weapons, or items that raise safeguarding or criminal concerns are not returned to pupils and are dealt with in line with statutory requirements.

Records are kept of searches and confiscations where required, and incidents are reviewed by senior leaders to ensure that procedures are followed consistently and appropriately. (Appendix)

Removal from the Classroom

Removal from the classroom is a serious but short-term measure used to maintain a calm, safe, and productive learning environment. It is used proportionately, sparingly, and in line with statutory guidance, and forms part of the graduated response to behaviour set out in Section 5 of this policy.

When Removal from the Classroom May Be Used

In line with the Department for Education's Behaviour in Schools, removal from the classroom may be used where a pupil's behaviour:

- seriously disrupts learning for themselves or others
- poses a risk to the safety of pupils or staff
- breaches the school's behaviour expectations and cannot be managed through in-class strategies

Removal from the classroom is not used as a punishment, nor as a substitute for effective behaviour support, early intervention, or appropriate sanctions. It is used only where allowing the pupil to remain in the classroom would significantly impact learning, safety, or good order.

Removal from the classroom does not replace suspension where the statutory threshold for suspension has been met.

Supervision and Reintegration

Pupils removed from the classroom are:

- appropriately supervised at all times
- provided with meaningful and suitable work
- supported to reflect on their behaviour

Removal is for the shortest time necessary and is followed by a planned reintegration into the classroom. Reintegration may include:

- a restorative conversation
- clarification of expectations
- additional support or adjustments, where appropriate

Where a pupil has SEND or identified additional needs, staff will consider reasonable adjustments and support strategies as part of reintegration, in line with duties under the SEND Code of Practice and Equality Act 2010.

Recording and Monitoring

All incidents of removal from the classroom are recorded accurately and promptly, in line with school and Trust procedures. Recording supports:

- monitoring of frequency and patterns of behaviour
- identification of pupils who may require additional support
- oversight by senior leaders
- review of the effectiveness and appropriateness of removal practices

Data relating to removal from the classroom is reviewed regularly at school and Trust level to ensure that it is used consistently, proportionately, and in line with statutory guidance.

Partial Timetables

Waterton Academy Trust is committed to ensuring that all pupils access full-time education in line with statutory attendance requirements. A reduced or partial timetable is not used as a sanction for behaviour and must not be used as a disciplinary response.

Statutory Framework and Guidance

The use of partial timetables is informed by the following statutory duties and guidance:

- Working together to improve school attendance
- Behaviour in Schools
- Keeping Children Safe in Education
- Special Educational Needs and Disability Code of Practice: 0–25 years
- Equality Act 2010

These set out schools' responsibilities to secure full-time education, safeguard pupils, and ensure that any alternative or adjusted arrangements are lawful, proportionate, and in the pupil's best interests.

In exceptional circumstances, and where it is clearly in a pupil's best interests, a time-limited reduced timetable may be used as part of a planned package of support to enable reintegration into full-time education. This may include circumstances where a pupil is experiencing significant emotional, behavioural, medical, or safeguarding needs that temporarily prevent them from accessing a full timetable.

Any use of a partial timetable:

- is not a behavioural sanction
- is agreed in advance with parents or carers
- is authorised and overseen by a senior leader
- has a clear reintegration plan and review dates
- sets clear, achievable expectations to facilitate increased time in school
- is reviewed regularly to ensure it remains necessary and appropriate

Partial timetables are used for the shortest time possible, with the clear expectation that pupils will return to full-time education as soon as it is safe and appropriate to do so.

Safeguarding, SEND, and Equality Considerations

All decisions relating to partial timetables are informed by safeguarding considerations and, where applicable, SEND processes. The Trust's duties under the Equality Act 2010, SEND Code of Practice, and safeguarding guidance apply at all times.

Where a pupil has SEND, a partial timetable is considered alongside:

- reasonable adjustments
- additional support or intervention
- multi-agency involvement, where appropriate

Partial timetables are not used to manage unmet needs or as a long-term solution and do not replace statutory processes, including Education, Health and Care (EHC) assessments where required.

Recording and Monitoring

All partial timetable arrangements are:

- documented clearly, including rationale, duration, and review points
- monitored by senior leaders
- reviewed regularly to ensure compliance with statutory duties

The Trust monitors the use of partial timetables to ensure consistency, legality, and alignment with attendance, inclusion, and safeguarding expectations. Where required, the local authority is informed in line with statutory attendance guidance.

Suspensions and Exclusions

Waterton Academy Trust recognises that suspension and permanent exclusion are serious statutory sanctions and must be used lawfully, proportionately, and only when necessary. They are not used to address low-level or minor incidents and are considered only where other interventions have been unsuccessful, or where the seriousness of an incident requires immediate action due to unsafe behaviours.

This section should be read in conjunction with the Waterton Academy Trust Exclusion Policy, which sets out in detail the statutory processes, timescales, and rights of pupils and parents/carers.

Statutory Framework and Guidance

The use of suspension and permanent exclusion is governed by the following statutory guidance and legislation:

- Suspension and Permanent Exclusion from Maintained Schools, Academies and Pupil Referral Units in England
- Behaviour in Schools
- Equality Act 2010
- Special Educational Needs and Disability Code of Practice: 0–25 years

These documents set out the legal thresholds, decision-making responsibilities, and procedural safeguards that schools must follow.

Circumstances in Which Suspension or Exclusion May Be Used

In line with statutory guidance, a suspension or permanent exclusion may be considered where:

- a pupil has committed a serious breach of the school's Behaviour Policy; and/or
- allowing the pupil to remain in school would seriously harm the education or welfare of the pupil or others

Decisions are made within the context of the graduated response outlined in:

- Section 3: Unacceptable Behaviour

- Section 5: Sanctions and Consequences
- Section 8: Removal from the Classroom

This ensures that suspension and exclusion are part of a coherent behaviour framework and are not used in isolation.

Decision-Making Authority

The decision to suspend or permanently exclude a pupil rests with the Headteacher (or the Headteacher's authorised delegate, acting in accordance with statutory guidance) following a review of the incident. Decisions are based on:

- the balance of probabilities
- consideration of all relevant evidence
- the individual circumstances of the pupil

The Trust expects Headteachers to act reasonably, fairly, and proportionately, taking account of duties under the Equality Act and SEND legislation. Headteachers should refer to the avoiding exclusions toolkit. This should be read with reference to the Avoiding Exclusions Toolkit.

Reintegration Following Suspension

Following a suspension, schools ensure that pupils are supported to reintegrate successfully into school. This includes:

- a reintegration meeting with parents/carers and the pupil on the morning of the return to school
- clear communication of behaviour expectations
- clarification of any additional support or adjustments that will be in place

All statutory paperwork, notifications, and recording requirements are completed in line with the Trust Exclusion Policy and DfE guidance, in a timely manner

Permanent Exclusion Threshold

Permanent exclusion is used only as a last resort. It may be considered where:

- there has been a serious or persistent breach of the Behaviour Policy; and
- allowing the pupil to remain in school would seriously harm the education or welfare of the pupil or others

Before reaching this threshold, schools will have considered a range of interventions and support, unless the seriousness of the incident makes this inappropriate. The Trust's Avoiding Exclusions Toolkit provides leaders with structured guidance to support a reflective and inclusive approach, ensuring that all reasonable and appropriate avenues of support and intervention have been fully explored before exclusion is considered.

The Trust monitors suspension and exclusion data to ensure:

- consistency and legality of decision-making
- compliance with statutory duties
- early identification of patterns or disproportionality
- effective oversight and accountability

Safeguarding and Serious Incidents

Waterton Academy Trust recognises that some behaviour incidents may indicate safeguarding concerns and require a response that goes beyond behaviour management. Safeguarding is always a priority, and the welfare of the child is paramount.

When Behaviour Becomes a Safeguarding Concern

Behaviour becomes a safeguarding concern where it:

- suggests that a pupil is at risk of harm or has suffered harm
- involves or indicates abuse, neglect, or exploitation
- involves serious violence, sexualised behaviour, or criminal activity
- raises concerns about radicalisation, extremism, serious emotional harm or Prevent-related risks
- indicates that a pupil may be at risk of harm outside of school

In such cases, behaviour is not treated solely as a disciplinary matter and safeguarding procedures take precedence over sanctions.

Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) Involvement

Any behaviour that raises safeguarding concerns is reported immediately to the Designated Safeguarding Lead (DSL) or a Deputy DSL. The DSL is responsible for:

- assessing the concern and determining next steps
- making referrals to children's social care, the police, or other agencies where appropriate
- ensuring that safeguarding records are completed accurately and securely
- advising staff on appropriate actions and support

Staff are expected to follow safeguarding procedures at all times and must always seek advice from the DSL.

Child-on-Child Abuse and Harmful Behaviour

Waterton Academy Trust recognises that children can be victims of, and perpetrators of, abuse, including child-on-child abuse. This includes, but is not limited to:

- bullying (including cyberbullying)
- physical violence
- sexual harassment or sexual violence
- harmful sexual behaviour
- initiation or hazing-type behaviour

All child-on-child abuse is taken seriously and responded to in line with Keeping Children Safe in Education. Allegations are managed sensitively, with consideration given to the needs and welfare of all pupils involved.

Behavioural sanctions may be applied where appropriate along with any additional safeguarding actions. Support will be provided to both victims and alleged perpetrators as required.

Links to Safeguarding Policy and Procedures

This Behaviour Policy should be read alongside the Trust's:

- Safeguarding and Child Protection Policy
- Anti-Bullying Policy
- Online Safety Policy
- SEND Policy

These policies set out detailed procedures for managing safeguarding concerns, referrals, record keeping, and multi-agency working.

All serious incidents involving behaviour and safeguarding are reviewed by senior leaders to ensure that responses are timely, appropriate, and compliant with statutory guidance.

SEND and Equality Duties

Waterton Academy Trust is committed to promoting inclusion, equity, and high expectations for all pupils. Behaviour expectations apply to all pupils; however, responses to behaviour take account of individual needs, circumstances, and statutory duties.

Statutory Framework and Duties

The Trust's approach to behaviour in relation to pupils with special educational needs and/or disabilities (SEND) is informed by the following legislation and statutory guidance:

- Special Educational Needs and Disability Code of Practice: 0–25 years
- Equality Act 2010
- Behaviour in Schools
- Keeping Children Safe in Education

These require schools to make reasonable adjustments, eliminate discrimination, and support pupils to access education safely and effectively.

Reasonable Adjustments and Support

Where a pupil's behaviour is linked to SEND or additional needs, schools will consider and implement reasonable adjustments and supportive strategies to reduce barriers and promote positive behaviour. This may include:

- adjustments to routines, expectations, or the learning environment
- additional adult support or intervention
- individual behaviour or support plans
- multi-agency involvement where appropriate

Reasonable adjustments are anticipatory, reviewed regularly, and informed by professional assessment and evidence.

Balancing Individual Needs with Safety and Learning

The Trust recognises the importance of balancing individual needs with the safety, wellbeing, and learning of others. While reasonable adjustments are made to support pupils with SEND, this does not remove the need for:

- clear behaviour expectations
- proportionate responses to unsafe or disruptive behaviour
- action to maintain calm, orderly, safe learning environments

Where behaviour presents a risk to safety or significantly disrupts learning, schools will take appropriate action in line with this policy and statutory guidance, while continuing to consider support and reasonable adjustments.

Equality and Non-Discrimination

The Trust does not discriminate against pupils with protected characteristics and takes steps to:

- prevent inequitable treatment
- ensure equal access to behaviour systems and support
- monitor the impact of behaviour responses on different groups

Decisions relating to sanctions, removal, suspension, or exclusion are made in line with Equality Act duties and are subject to review to ensure fairness and proportionality.

Roles and Responsibilities

Clear roles and responsibilities support the consistent and effective implementation of this Behaviour Policy across Waterton Academy Trust. All members of the school community have a role to play in promoting positive behaviour, maintaining high standards, and ensuring that behaviour is managed lawfully, fairly, and in line with statutory guidance.

Trust Board and Local Governing Bodies

The Trust Board and Local Governing Bodies are responsible for:

- approving and overseeing the implementation of the Trust Behaviour Policy
- ensuring that statutory duties relating to behaviour, safeguarding, SEND, equality, and exclusions are met
